DESCRIPTION

A Fun, Bonding Event

Using games and activities from the world of improv comedy, we provide a fun, interactive experience for your team. With all the laughter from our entertaining exercises, it will be hard to tell that your team is actually discovering on their feet how to work more harmoniously and efficiently, be more positive, communicate better, and ultimately build on each other's ideas. The Team Works Training Package from Merlin Works will build individual skills while delivering a fun, bonding experience for all involved.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Objective . . .

We help people be more fun to work with. Merlin Works provides interactive teambuilding training that is hilarious, involving, and a hit with your team. Professional improvisers facilitate the group in collaborative activities. We will supply a customized program based on your requests and audience participation. Merlin Works can build on the team's already considerable competitive edge by increasing the ability of their team to communicate effectively, support one another, and maintain high functioning during demanding situations. With our professional facilitators and entertainers, we make you look good and the guests feel good.

The Benefits . . .

- Full of laughs
- Customized to your team's interests and needs
- A bonding experience, especially for new team members
- Gaining a foundation of positivity and agreement in interactions
- Improved communication and better listening skills
- Valuing group over personal success: emphasizing making each other look good, celebrating others' input, and knowing when your best contribution is none at all
- Optimal performance: how to do your best work under the worst circumstances
- Being able to produce while sharing control and input
- More productive brainstorming, problem solving, and meetings
- Improved flexibility and response to change
- A memorable, one-of-a-kind event

The Trainers . . .

With coaches who are highly qualified in corporate training for teamwork and communication skills, Merlin Works can provide instruction that is high-impact, fast, and fun. Because all of our trainers are also professional improvisers who have years of experience performing in teams in front of audiences with no scripts and no safety net, they are distinctively qualified teamwork coaches. Our performance experience combined with our years of teaching know-how has made our trainers requested by PricewaterhouseCoopers, Advance Auto Parts, Whole Foods and Four Seasons Hotels and Resorts.

THE PACKAGE

Team Works Package by Merlin Works . . .

Teamwork and communication skills cannot be taught in a lecture or in a book. They must be learned experientially, with members participating in exercises, receiving feedback, and practicing new techniques. This is when true breakthroughs can happen.

We start with group icebreaker activities. People might have to get in order of birthday in under a minute—without talking! The entire group may engage in a slow motion samurai battle or use the same tools used to train dolphins to train each other. We might even play some classic schoolyard games—with a twist.

Then we do some demonstrations of the simple communication tools we use in the world of improvisation that can be easily applied to business situations. Participants may play a short conversation games in pairs, tell a story a word at a time, or create a spontaneous work of art. Team members play creative games as a group, discuss and debrief the exercises, and leave with fun memories, experiences, and attitudes they can bring back to the workplace.

The Team Works Package Includes . . .

- Planning, meetings, and communication
- Curriculum Planning
- Merlin Works Trainer
- Trainer Assistants
- Training Materials
- Half Day Location Rental
- Post-program evaluation and recommendations
